Clay Pickering

VICE PRESIDENT I FINANCE

Clay Pickering is responsible for coordinating TRC's debt financings and overseeing all lender relationships. He works closely with TRC's Connected Development Services and Connected Acquisition Services divisions to provide oversight on the financial modeling, underwriting and structuring of new investment opportunities.

Prior to joining TRC, Pickering was a vice president and asset manager with the Real Estate Specialties Group of Bank of the Ozarks. In this role, he was responsible for underwriting and structuring commercial real estate lending facilities for development, construction and bridge loans throughout the United States.

He started his career as an appraiser with C.L. McDade & Company where he performed research and valuation on all types of commercial real estate including land, retail, office, industrial and multi-family.

Pickering received his bachelor's degree in business administration from Baylor University, and resides in Dallas with his wife and daughter.
