

Kevin Chhor

SENIOR ACCOUNTANT | ACCOUNTING

Kevin Chhor is a Senior Accountant in The Retail Connection's Dallas office, bringing over nine years of experience in property and commercial real estate accounting. He has established himself as a trusted financial partner, known for delivering accurate reporting, strengthening internal controls, and supporting strategic decision-making across complex property portfolios.

Throughout his career, Kevin has played a key role in partnering with property managers, asset managers, and executive leadership to drive financial transparency and operational efficiency. He oversees portfolio-level financials, leads the preparation of comprehensive reporting packages, and provides in-depth variance analysis to identify trends and inform business strategy. His involvement in budgeting and forecasting processes enables teams to plan proactively and align financial performance with organizational goals.

Kevin's leadership is defined by his analytical rigor, attention to detail, and commitment to continuous improvement. He takes a proactive approach to refining accounting processes and enhancing reporting accuracy, helping ensure consistency and accountability across properties. With a strong understanding of property management operations, he effectively bridges finance and operations, fostering collaboration and ensuring that financial insights reflect real-world performance.

He earned his Bachelor of Science in Accounting from Menlo College and remains focused on advancing into senior leadership roles within property accounting. Kevin is committed to contributing to high-performing organizations while continuing to expand his expertise in strategic finance, team leadership, and operational excellence.

Outside of his professional work, Kevin prioritizes time with his family and enjoys pursuing interests that support both personal growth and creativity. He has a keen interest in artificial intelligence and its practical applications, particularly in investment research and financial analysis. He also enjoys cooking, sketching architectural designs, reading, and spending time in nature.
